THE CARDINAL

1961

DEDICATION

The growth of a teacher is a gradual process. Perhaps it begins in the haze of childhood when, inspired by a special teacher, one states, "I, too, am going to teach when I grow up." However, it is in college that the concrete preparation for teaching begins.

Somehow, out of the confusion of classes, field trips, labs, and term papers, the student begins to sort out his values and resources. The future teacher develops a pride in and sense of unity with the teaching profession. This is his field. He strives for excellence, seeking as his goal a blend of idealism and practicality.

Thus, we dedicate this yearbook, the 1961 Cardinal, to you, the future teacher; to present teachers; and to all seekers of the ideal . . .

DR. EDWARD E. REDCAY

. . . and to one man, especially, who representing idealism in teaching, is a living symbol of all that is to be admired in teaching.

On April 13 of this year it was announced that Dr. Redcay had been appointed to a special professorship to develop a new honors program for talented students. Dr. Redcay is returning to his first love, teaching. In developing the new program, he will be fulfilling his belief that every student at Plattsburgh possesses an unusual talent to be developed. The new honors program is the best example of his work within a profession that has no bounds.

"Hey, Group . . . Dr. Redcay's back in teaching. Best thing to hit Plattsburgh since diplomas!"

"There is no doubt that under his guidance the honors program at this college will be one of the finest in the nation."

These comments are from two extremes of the college population, a freshman nurse teacher and the President of the College. They illustrate well that in all areas of college life Dean Redcay has been thought of first as a teacher. His vitality and personality have impressed his philosophy and high ideals in education both in classes and in casual discussion. He has been an inspiration to all students on campus in helping them to develop scholarly interests and qualities of leadership.

Since he joined the faculty in 1936 he has been an instructor in mathematics, psychology and orientation, Dean of Men, head of the General Education Department, Acting President of the College, and Dean of the College. He has achieved prominence beyond our campus. He was listed in the 1960-61 "Who's Who in America," "Who's Who

However, we salute the personality and the man, not the background. His work with students is based on mutual respect and understanding. Each year he meets with new and old Eastern States delegates to prepare for the Conference. Dr. Redcay and students work together at this time to plan material for the conference which will provide an opportunity to codify and consider some of the things that students feel about teaching and the teaching profession.

Dr. Redcay's love of jazz and dixieland is well known to all on campus. Even this love of music has been shared with all students and faculty. How many of us have been introduced to college life and the friendly atmosphere of Plattsburgh through one of the Sunday afternoon jam sessions?

Through his enthusiasm and youthful outlook, Dr. Redcay has been able to communicate with students. He has provided inspiration and practical example for all future teachers. The new honors program is the fulfillment of a dedicated life of teaching and educating the heart as well as the mind. We might summarize his philosophy in words taken from a speech which he gave before this year's freshman class:

You and I . . . must re-examine what we really believe, our values, and rededicate ourselves more and more to what is right and good in the minds and hearts of men.

EARLY CHILDHOOD

Seated, l. to r.: E. Seegott; N. J. Legg, Sec.; N. A. Babenehr, Treas.; D. Love, Pres.; C. Winslow, Vice Pres.; D. Atchley, Historian; B. Botto. Standing, l. to r.: B. Locke, J. Dodge, J. Simons, L. Haucke, N. Knapp, C. Schneider, D. Frenyea, B. A. Emmert, S. Lipschutz, A. LaRose, I. Earing, B. McConnell.

The students in Early Childhood Education work with nursery school, kindergarten, and primary grade children. Although the education of these students is similar to that of all students in education, emphasis is placed upon understandings necessary in dealing with younger children. When the early childhood students become teachers, they will mold the attitudes and basic concepts of young children. What they teach will be the basis for the later education of the children in their charge.

The curriculum of the home economics major is broad in scope. It includes liberal arts subjects as well as the technical home economics studies. Home economics students are expected to acquire the appreciation, understandings, and techniques needed to help their students improve all aspects of family life. Of necessity, studies are varied, since the young woman is expected to develop an ability to participate in community activities as well as teach specialized homemaking skills. Thus, the home economics curriculum encompasses any matter dealing with family life.

GENERAL ELEMENTARY

SEANYS

Standing, l. to r.: C. Sayward, S. Benning, J. Wright, I. Vybril, G. Cross, D. Schudel, A. Clark, M. A. Felice, S. Burke, J. Fitzpatrick, E. Matulionis (State President). Seated, l. to r.: D. Christman, Dr. J. Deeb, Adv.; J. Denkiewicz, B. Stott, Pres.; M. Dougherty, R. Newcomb.

General Education Division students study English, mathematics, science, and social studies. In addition to this liberal arts training, the students are made thoroughly familiar with psychology, and teaching methods and techniques through their education classes. They have a knowledge of techniques useful in guiding children. These students, the teachers of tomorrow, will apply their knowledge in teaching and guiding children of the elementary schools.

SECONDARY

Specialization in Secondary School Education offers a five-year program to prepare mathematics and science teachers for New York State junior and senior high schools. Many of the courses are of a technical nature since the students must have a solid background if they are to teach their subject matter. The curriculum is slanted toward guidance and leadership of pupils, as well as comprehension of mathematics and science.

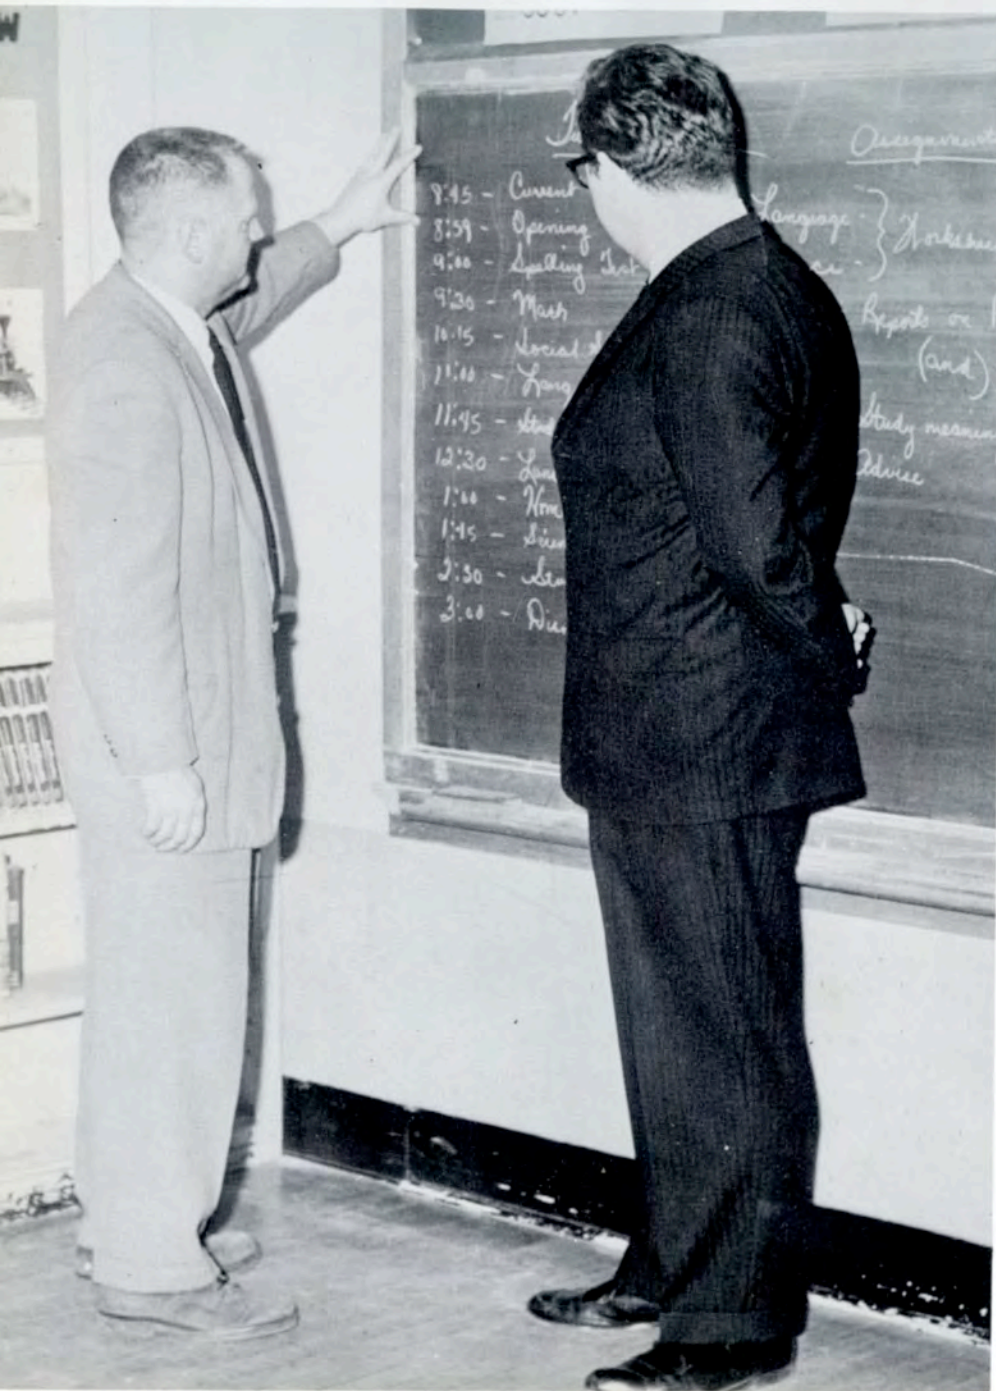

EARLY SECONDARY

Since the early secondary and secondary majors belong to the same education club, their formal picture is seen on the previous page.

The early secondary school program with majors in English and social studies is a five-year program. The first four years are completed on the undergraduate level. The fifth year is completed in summer sessions or one additional year of study. These years of study provide a background of courses to assist the future teacher in dealing with the pliable teenager. It is the instruction of the early secondary teacher that will guide the teenager into democratic learnings and understanding of the phases of his life.

NURSE TEACHER

Standing, l. to r.: J. Bena, V. Pres.; S. Bach, Treas.; C. Schlegel, Delegate to House; B. Pulver, Corr. Sec.; M. Barkman, Rec. Sec.

The students in Nurse Teacher Education recognize a triple goal. They become registered nurses, teachers in the school, and an integral part of the community. Their education is not limited merely to science and nursing arts; as teachers, they must understand the wider goals of education. To adequately prepare for this future, these young women spend four undergraduate years, including summer sessions, in study. Twenty-one months are spent in affiliation with cooperating hospital agencies in New York City and Long Island, in addition to two years in Plattsburgh.

The Old Building.

The first building of the Plattsburgh State Normal School was built on a gentle rise at the end of Court Street. This building, which overlooked the city, was erected during the years 1889 to 1890. In 1890, Fox Hiden, superintendent of Plattsburgh Village Schools was appointed first principal of the school. The original twelve member school faculty is quite contrast to today's faculty of 100? members.

The Normal school continued to grow and prosper until expansion was abruptly halted in the winter of 1929. On January 26, disaster struck in the form of smoke and fire. The building and its contents were completely destroyed. Only the gutted outer walls remained.

The entire city, led by the mayor, went into action. Every available space was offered to the Normal School group. The city hall, where officer's and classes were located, was made headquarters. Training school pupils were accommodated in the city grade schools and the old high school. Even sedate church parlors were offered for use. Under these conditions, the school continued for the remainder of the year until completion of the new building.

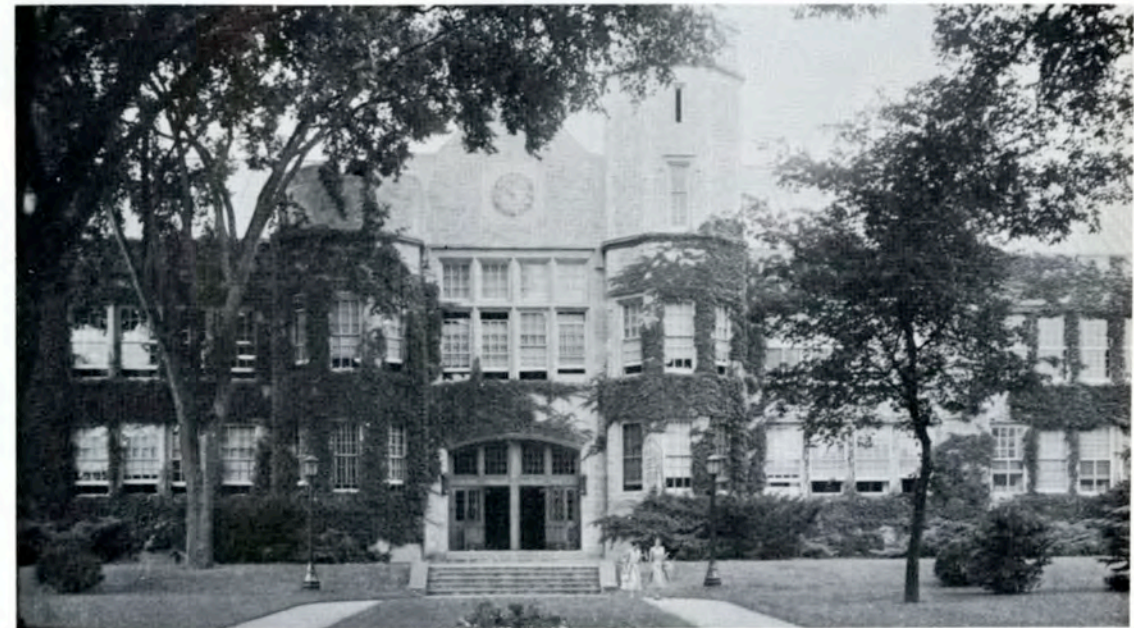

Destruction.

After The Fire.

Construction of the present main building began in 1930. By 1932 it was completed and required only a dedication and an official name. The new building became Hawkins Hall in memory of Dr. George Hawkins who had served as principal for thirty-five years.

FOOTBALL TEAM, 1928

Activities of today do not differ greatly from those of other years. There were dances, frosh, hazing, pledging, finals . . . and even a football team?

SENIOR BANQUET

MIDYEAR HOP

...NOW

For these Seniors the time of learning and apprenticeship will soon belong to memories of people and times gone by. They have answered the question, "Will I succeed in student teaching?" They have discovered surprising strengths. With candor and critical insight, each senior has evaluated himself. Now they are alumni — members of their profession.

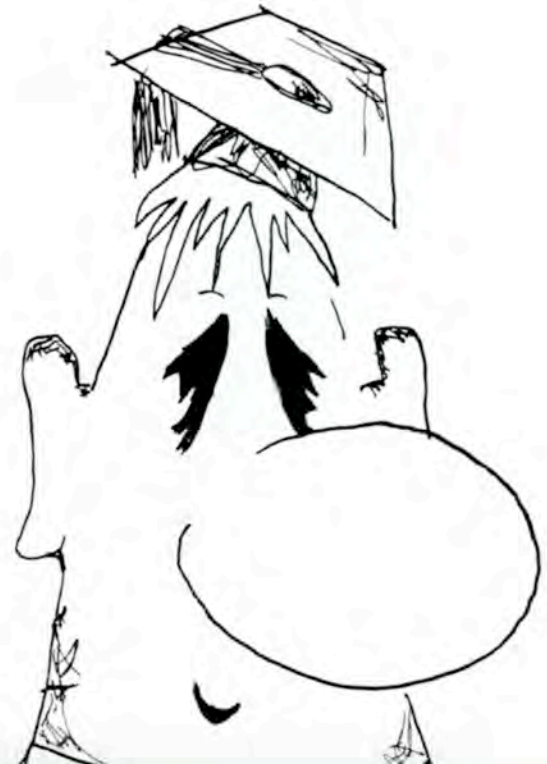

Mr. Riedesel, advisor.

IN MEMORIAM

Georgianna Carpentier

The Senior Class of 1961 has reached graduation, but our class is not complete. Affectionately, and with a little poignancy, we remember Georgianna Carpentier, who never reached the goal of membership in the profession of teaching. Teacher-to-be, Agonian, and member of Kappa Delta Pi, she worked with us as a fellow student until the first semester of our senior year.

Occasionally words and speech fail as a means of communication. Perhaps the best expression of our feelings will be this: the memory of Georgianna will remain forever in our hearts.

KING ALAN WILLIAMS

JUNIOR

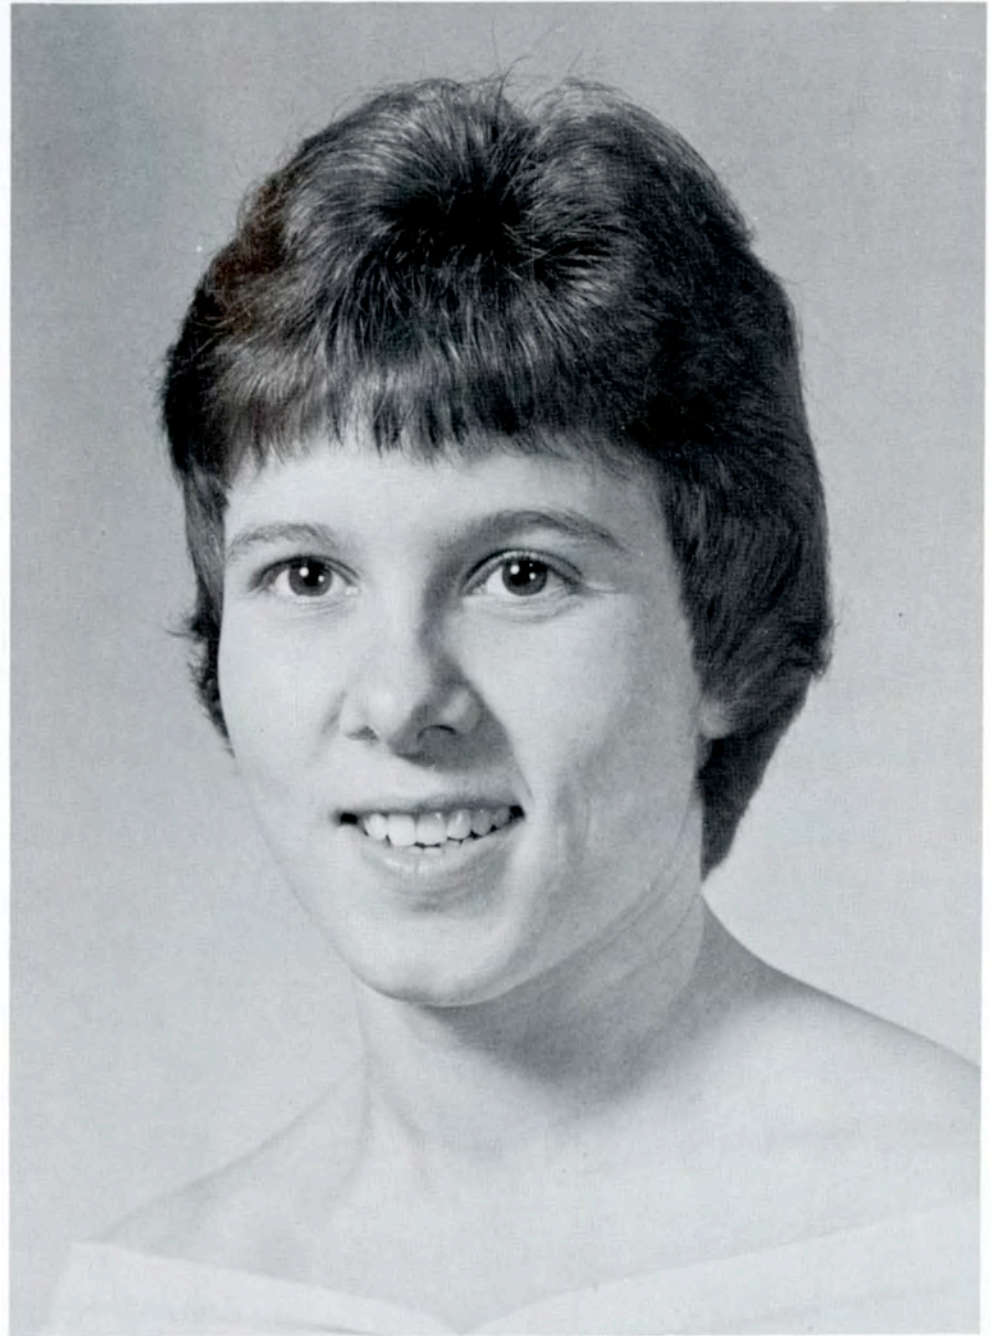

The members of this year's Junior Court were elected on the basis of their profound allegiance to and absolutely selfless interest in their class. These students placed class duties above personal interests and could always be depended upon to carry out their responsibilities for the class throughout their three years of college life.

They have contributed much to their class and, by doing so, have also worked for the betterment of our school.

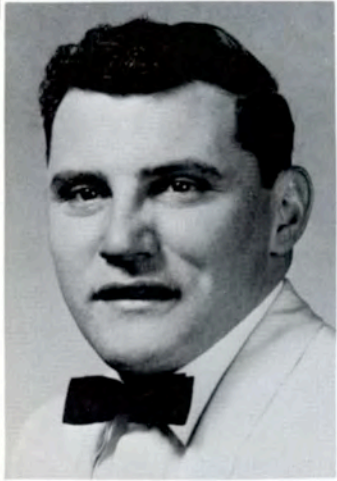

It gives us the greatest pleasure to announce the King and Queen of the Junior Class of 1962 — Alan Williams and Jean Desidoro.

In structure, the House of Delegates at Plattsburgh is similar to many other student governing bodies. However, there is one great difference. Our House is virtually a self-governing organization. Each student, directly or indirectly, may initiate action on any problem concerning the student body. This is possible since delegates come from every recognized club on campus as well as from every class. Every student interested in working for better college student government may participate either as a delegate, an alternate, or as an observer.

House business ranges from determination of assemblies to budget regulations for clubs. Through standing committees the House of Delegates works in the areas of extra-class, social and assembly matters as well as student guidance and registration. The House provides guidance in budget matters of clubs and assists in the formation of a new club on campus whenever sufficient interest is shown. Obviously, House business covers many areas.

Extensive as House business is, it functions smoothly. Student Council is a factor in this since the group meets before each House meeting to make up an agenda for each meeting. House efficiency is further increased by Student Council assistance to orientation of freshmen and the transaction of business in the interim between meetings. Perhaps most important, Student Council acts as a sounding board for any criticisms or suggestions from students or faculty.

Plattsburgh has been doubly fortunate in student government. It is not only efficient, but also an accurate reflection of the wishes of the student body. Our House is willing to take the initiative in college matters and to function as a government by and for the benefit of the whole student body.

Students interested in exchanging information or learning of current national and international affairs work with the International Relations Club. Members meet to hear speakers or panels, to see films or merely to discuss topics of current interest. This year, thirteen delegates participated in the Mid-Atlantic Model General Assembly, held in New York City at the United Nations.

The Radio Club is one of the newest clubs on campus. Members are drawn from all college divisions. The only stipulation for membership is an interest in radio work and a willingness to learn. During the past year members worked to obtain amateur licenses. Plans are being made to set up a station on campus.

Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education, is open to all juniors and seniors whose averages fall within the upper quintile. The organization promotes contributions in the field of education through their publication, "The Educational Forum." Theta Kappa, the local chapter, was host in 1960 to representatives from several eastern colleges for the Kappa Delta Pi Conference, held to develop a more effective chapter.

In March a Book Sale was held to begin a scholarship fund.

Tierney, V. Bumbalo.

The Footlighters bring the best in varied drama to the college and community audiences each year. Their objective is to present the best in classical, contemporary, and experimental drama. This year they explored the cultural heritage of another country with their March production of "Mad Woman of Chaillot." Tennessee Williams' play, "Streetcar Named Desire" represented the work of the Footlighters in contemporary American drama. Two experimental dramas, "The Chairs" and "The Bald Soprano," emphasized the interest of their members in modern theater forms.

MUSIC

There are five extra-curricular music groups on campus: mixed chorus, girls' ensemble, band, chorale, and college-community orchestra. The groups provide music for such varied activities as Baccalaureate Service, Christmas Sing, Winter Concert, Class Day, and Christmas Concert. The Chorale competed at the Intercollegiate Chorale Festival held annually at the University of Vermont. Several of the groups toured schools in the North Country.

The Science Club provides an outlet for those students interested in working with others in organizing field trips, panel discussions and film showings dealing with any phase of science. Committees plan and organize the annual Science Fair as the highlight of the year's activities. Both elementary and secondary students from area schools participate in the Science Fair.

The membership of Tiwa-ya-ee is open to all college students interested in forest camping. The purpose of the club is to develop Twin Valleys for recreation and College use, and to learn to use the assets of the North Country forests for education as well as recreation.

NORTHERN LIGHT

The Northern Light is the college newspaper. Its four five-column pages cover off-campus and alumni activities as well as campus happenings. Occasionally it provides a sounding board for ferment or discontent on campus through its "Letters to the Editor" column. Constructive criticism often provides a focal point for lively editorial comment. Any college student is eligible for a position on the staff.

BASEBALL

The 1959-1960 baseball season was highlighted by Plattsburgh's capture of the New York State Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown, although it was shared through a two-way tie with Brockport who also won 4 and lost 1 in the competition. In the Athletic Conference, Plattsburgh defeated Potsdam, 6-4; Albany, 10-5; Potsdam, 8-4; and Oneonta, 9-4. Plattsburgh suffered a setback on the State University level when Albany came back and whitewashed the Redbirds, 11-0.

The big bats of Ray Brenan, John McCarty, and Chick Newton brought in batting titles with a .379, .372, and .360 respectively. McCarty led the team with 9 runs and 8 bases on balls, while Brenan garnered 8 runs and 8 bases on balls.

In the pitching department, the Redbirds hailed John Douglas, Dick Phillips, and John McCarty to the mound. Phillips came through with four wins.

Throughout the season, the Redbirds fought hard and kept up their spirit. Although the Cards were toppled in a number of games, the squad did trample several teams and had many close calls. Their overall record was four wins and six losses.

Ray Brenan, captain of the ballteam, was also elected its most valuable player. John McCarty was selected to lead the Cards for the 1961 season.

The year was Coach E. Rangazas' first coaching role on campus. Last season's team showed its fine sportsmanship and ability as ball players. This year, Rangazas and the Cardinals once again proved themselves on the field.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Junior Varsity competition allows the players to gain the experience necessary for play in the Varsity ranks. The transition from high school to intercollegiate play is many times a big step to take. A faster, more rugged game with well rounded teams, intercollegiate competition is not usually immediately within reach of the young inexperienced players. As a strong sense of team work and sportsmanship is gained, the players have the opportunity to move into the Varsity. Due to the transitional nature of the team, scores may suffer, but this is not a measure of the player's development. During the year, we saw Neil Sesselman and Randy Ellsworth advance from J.V. to Varsity ball. Although the team had small man-power, they showed the strong character of a fighting team.

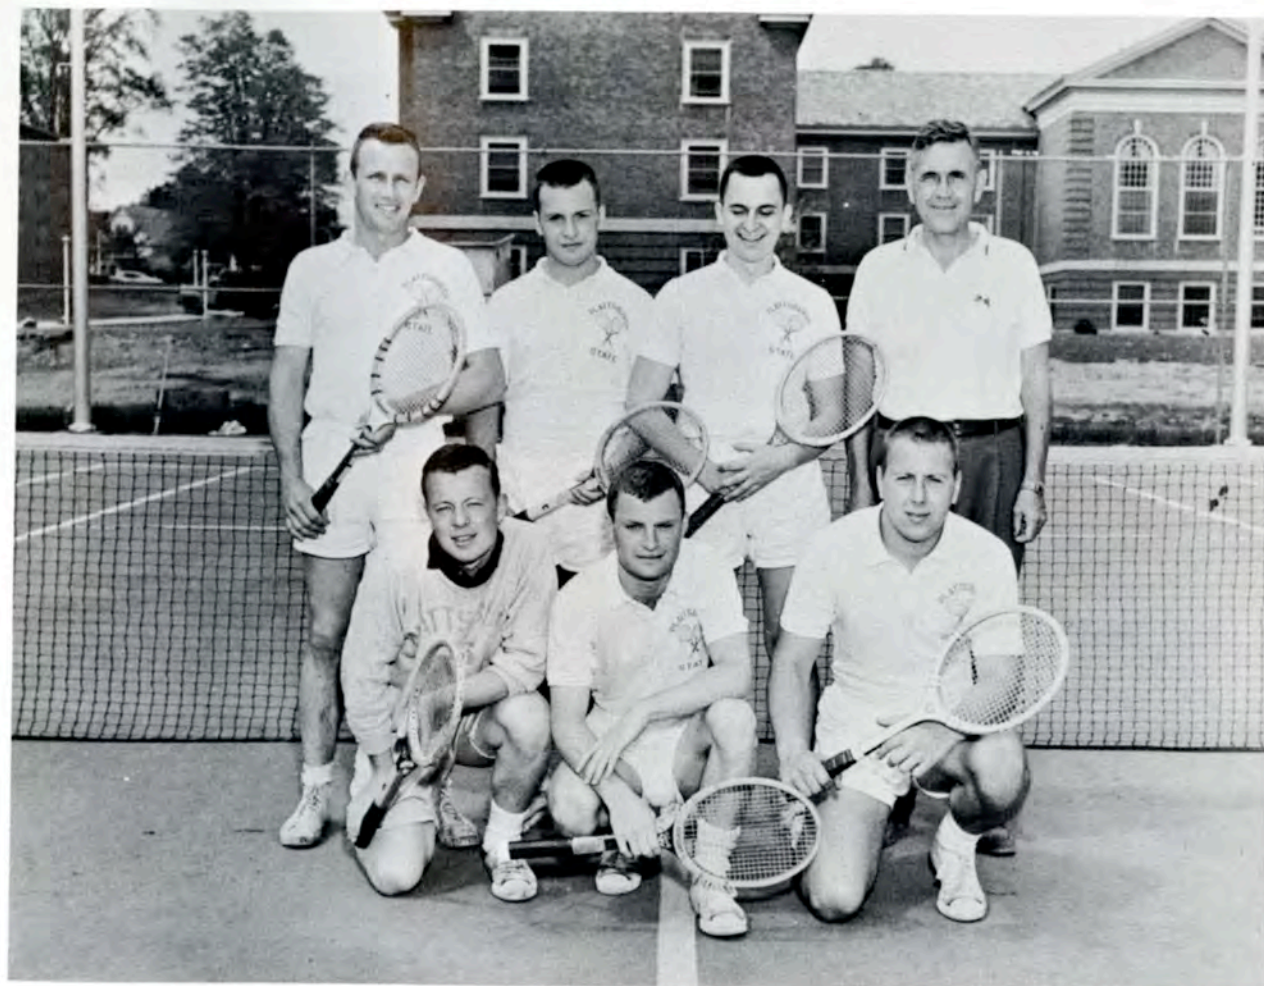

Throughout the season, the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were seen cheering the Jayvees on with their pep and school spirit.

TENNIS

As predicted, the Varsity Team, a recent newcomer on our campus in intercollegiate competition, this year sported a winning season. The record of four wins to three losses was held especially high in the eyes of Coach Doc Wiley and the squad when compared to the scores of the matches last season.

Capt. Ron McGovern and lettermen Fred Meyers and Jerry Gottlieb led the team with only one loss each all season, while first-year men John Chapman, Pete Phillips, and Dave Everleth followed with slightly less impressive, but none-the-less good scores.

With Fall practice planned and the prospect of some top tennis men coming next year, it can be hoped that the 1961 tennis season will be still better for Plattsburgh.

Finishing the 1960 season with a 7-1 record, the Cardinals turned in the college's best performance since the sport was inaugurated in 1950. Compiling a 5-0 record in conference play, the Plattsburgh booters were able to finish third in the New York State Intercollegiate Soccer Conference.

Defense was one of the main reasons the Cardinals were able to compile such an outstanding record. Led by goalie Jack Potter and defenseman Whitey LeBlanc, the team was able to hold the opposition to an average of 0.87 goals per game.

Coupled with this outstanding defense was the aggressive line play of seniors Paul Wight and Dick Phillips, backed by such able halfback performers as Carl Flood and Tom Walton. With hustle and determination the booters were able to tally 25 goals to the opposition's 7.

Dick Phillips led the scorers with nine goals during the season. Phillips' total for three years was 22 goals, with the 1958's 11 goals standing as the school record. Against Albany Dick put home three of the four goals scored. Against Oswego he put in the insurance goal that iced the game.

Halfback Tom Walton scored only two goals during the campaign, but both of the boots meant the difference between victory and defeat for Jastrab's eleven. Tom was elected most valuable player by his teammates.

Captain Paul Wight was another reason for the Cardinals' record season. Paul was directly responsible for two of the team's victories as his boots beat Lemoyne and Potsdam, the latter being an overtime victory.

Goalie Jack Potter allowed only 0.87 goals per game. In the three consecutive seasons that Potter has been stationed in the nets for the Cardinals, Plattsburgh has won 17, lost 6 and tied one. Selected as goalie for the All-Star New York State Intercollegiate Soccer Conference Team, he was also named to the All New York State second team.

On the list of wins were New Paltz 9-0, LeMoyne 2-0, Norwich 2-1, Oswego 3-1, Potsdam 3-2, Albany 4-1 and Potsdam 2-0. Middlebury gave the Cardinals their only setback when they turned back our booters 2-0.

C-A-R-D-I-N-A-L-S

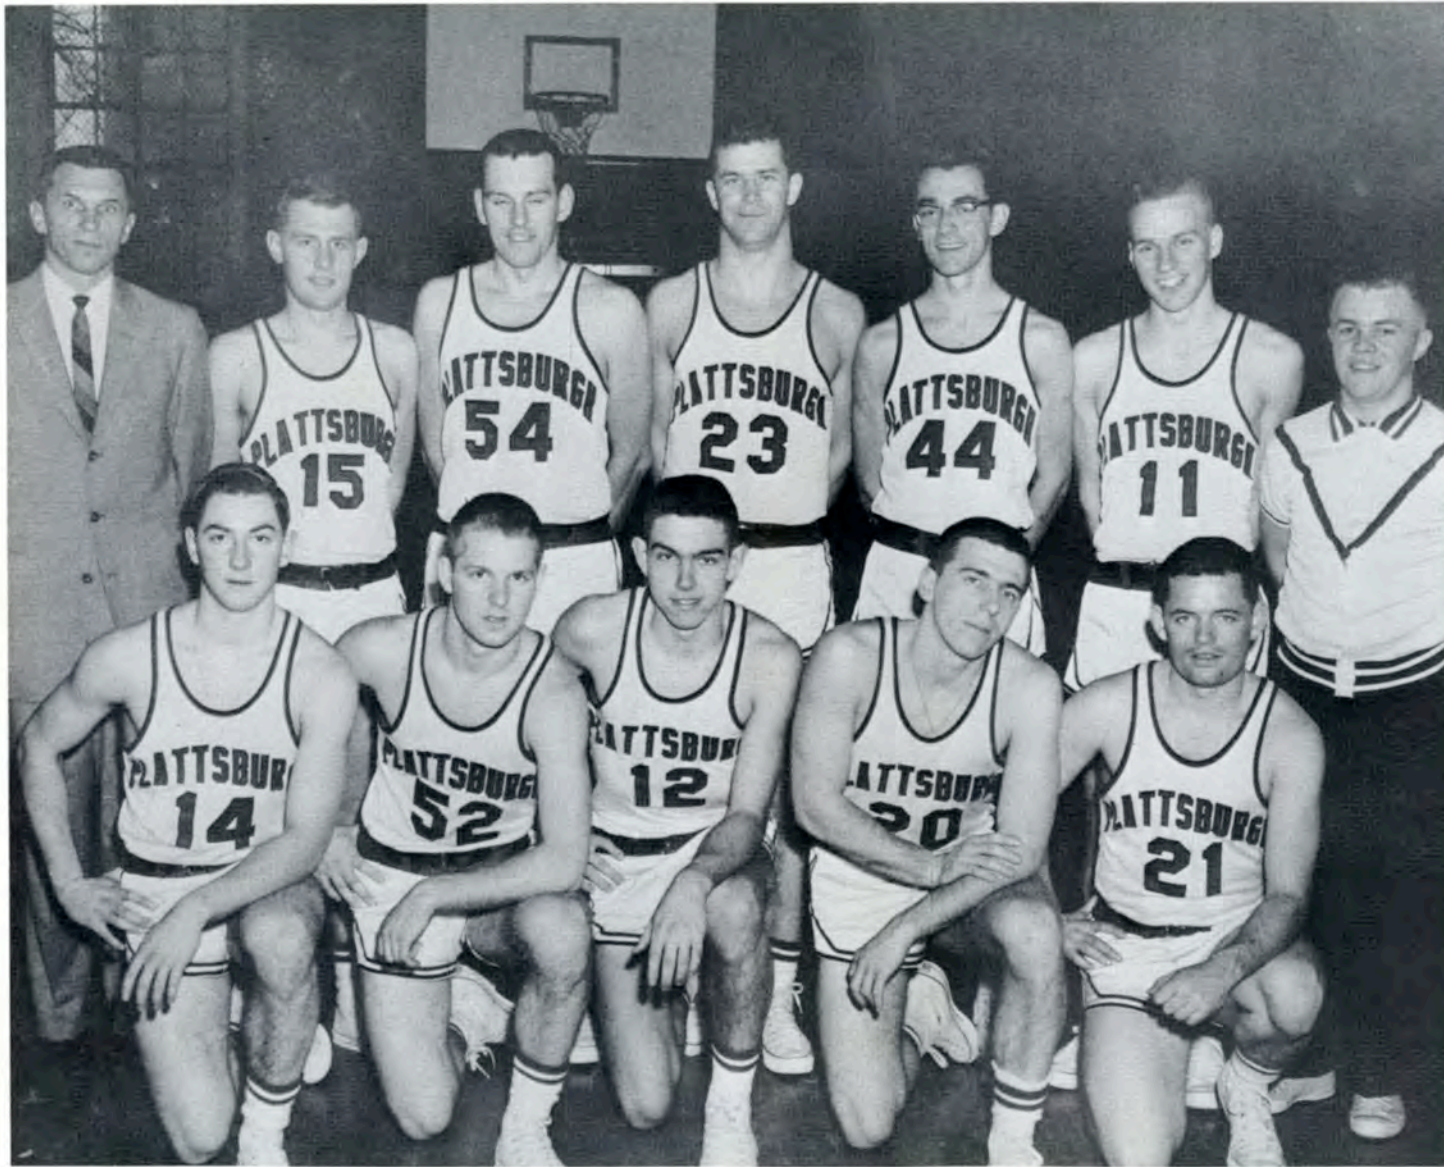

C-A-R-D-I-N-A-L-S- Cardinals, Fight team fight! This was the spirit exhibited by this year's cheering squad. The captain of this enthusiastic group was Barb Burdo. Pep rallies staged by the cheerleaders were successful in arousing school spirit. Throughout the year the girls in white, displaying their smiles and pep, could always be seen leading the spectators at basketball and soccer games.

TWIRLERS

M. A. Felice, J. Simonet, M. Yerry, G. Alexander, M. Barkman, B. J. Dayton.

Plattsburgh's Cardinals were hampered most of the season with perpetual injuries which kept many of the key players out of the lineup for a considerable length of time. Pat Malen, Rick Florin, Dick Perkins and Wayne Lashway all sustained injuries and were forced to watch the action from the sidelines for one third of the year.

Due to the unusual rash of injuries the Cards compiled an unimpressive 10-10 record. However, won and lost figures do not tell the real story. Winning the first four games, the quintet looked like it was off to a really successful season. Suddenly, the injuries struck and fans groaned as the team went down to defeat seven times in a row. Strength was gradually gained and after the slump the Cards won all but one of the remaining six scheduled games.

Finishing strongly with overtime wins over Geneseo and Oneonta, the Cardinals were invited to the Cortland Tournament, where they lost their first two games in the closing minutes, and beat Potsdam in the final game. Plattsburgh finished seventh in the tourney.

Senior co-captain Pat Malan came back strong after his ankle injury and led the team in scoring with 263 points. Sir George Williams watched the 5'9" senior toss in 38 points.

Senior co-captain Rick Florin was the leading rebounder as he grabbed 283 rebounds off the boards which brought his career total to 980. Florin was also this year's runner-up scorer with a 14.0 point average.

Backcourt men such as scrappy senior Dick Perkins, and Wayne Lashway, along with Vern Wager and Bob Genaway all contributed to the stretch drive that prevented Joe Jastrab from having his first losing season as the Cards' mentor.
